

In brief

Outsiders join the pack

The organisers of the Outsider Art Fair, which has taken place in January or February for the past 21 years, have changed its dates (8-11 May) to coincide with Frieze New York. The gallerist Andrew Edlin (right), who bought the fair in 2012, says the move is geared towards curators. "We find most of the overlap in the hands of visionary curators" buying for institutions, he says. P.P.

